

The First Legacy Games: the physical and socio-economic transformation of East London

Tuesday 10th November, 6.30-8pm,
Sheikh Zayed Theatre,
New Academic Building, LSE

Future projection of the Olympic site 2040 © AECOM Design + Planning / OAKER

The LSE Cities Programme and the Olympic Park Legacy Company Legacy Now Team present a public debate exploring the physical development of the Olympic Park after 2012 as well as the wider socio-economic benefits the Games aim to bring to East London.

Speakers:

Andrew Altman Olympic Park Legacy Company

Paul Brickell London Borough of Newham Council and Leaside Regeneration

Ricky Burdett LSE Urban Age, Principal Design Advisor to the London 2012 Olympics

Roger Taylor Host Boroughs Unit

Chair: Fran Tonkiss LSE Cities Programme

Event conceptualised on behalf of the Olympic Park Legacy Company by Gillian Evans, Centre for Research on Socio-Cultural Change (CRESC), University of Manchester.

This event is free and open to all but you are required to register online by using the following link: <http://www.legacy-now.co.uk/events/lecture-the-first-legacy-games-the-physical-and-socio-economic-transformation-of-east-london/>

For directions to LSE: <http://www2.lse.ac.uk/mapsAndDirections/Home.aspx>