EDI – Equity, Diversity and Inclusion

The EDI Office serves as a vital resource and leader in furthering LSE’s commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion for all members of its community. The EDI Office provides the delivery of services to support diversity, inclusiveness, equal access, equitable treatment and multicultural understanding and competency.

The EDI Hub is the central point for all things EDI – if you want to keep up with EDI events, networks and news, you can do so here! You can also find vital support lines here. If you experience bullying or harassment while at LSE, you can report it here at the EDI Hub.

Within the Department of International History, we have our own EDI Rep – this is Dr Qingfei Yin. The EDI Rep’s role is to look at ways in which our Department can be a more inclusive environment while also overseeing the EDI budget available to the Department each year. This budget can be used on events and research opportunities.

The “Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Strategy 2022” outlines how LSE is committed to building a diverse, equitable and truly inclusive university.

Consent.Ed

The Consent.Ed programme explores issues around sexual consent, providing an opportunity for us to discuss how we can look out for one another and create a positive, respectful consent culture, where everyone feels safe on campus.

NB. This is compulsory – all students must complete Levels 1 & 2

- Level 1 (completed online): <https://info.lse.ac.uk/report-it/Consent.Ed>
- Level 2 (completed in person): sessions are held on Friday 27th September
- Level 2 sessions are allocated by programme – check Student Hub for details

Peer Support from your Community

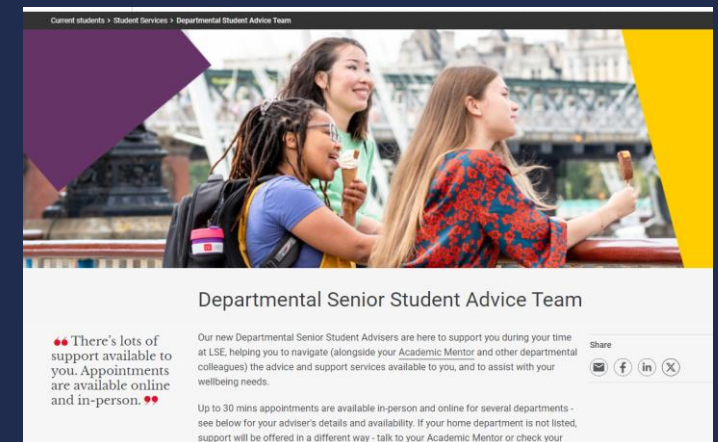

(in other words, meeting your fellow historians/students)

- Staff-Student Liaison Committee: each programme & year group elects representatives to raise student matters at termly meetings
- History Society: runs programme of events throughout the year
- International History Common Room: on ground floor of Sardinia House
- LSE Peer Support Scheme: open to all students
